

Changing Times Kill Crossroads

Election Dates Set

The annual election of executive officers to serve on the Student Senate next year will begin with the primary vote April 29. The general election will be held May 3, according to Election Committee Chairman Linda White.

Students must present an ID card in order to vote.

Polling places will be located in main lobbies of the College Union, Business Department, Reynolds Hall and Hearnes Hall.

Concert Set Sunday at Memorial

A concert of musical selections ranging from the renaissance to the contemporary, and featuring the vocal department of Missouri Southern College, will be presented at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, April 25, in the auditorium at Memorial High School.

Participating will be the MSC Chorale of sixty voices, and the Collegiates, a group of twenty singers who have made many appearances for various civic groups.

The chorale will open the program with Lotti's "Crucifixus"; the "Echo-song" by di Lasso, Mozart's "Kyrie Eleison" and Palestrina's "Hodi Christus Natus Est" for double chorus.

The second group of selections will feature five of the Brahms "Love Song Waltzes" accompanied by pianists Jerry Ludiker and Marilyn Rush. The four Slovak folk songs of Bartok will conclude the group.

The Collegiates will present the third portion of the program, which will include a renaissance number, "Alleluia" with Patricia Brown as soloist, two folk songs and "Hello Dolly", accompanied by Jim Matthews on the guitar.

The final group by the chorale will feature 20th Century composers and will include Christiansen's "Lost in the Night", "The Last Words of David" by Thompson, Kubik's "Little Bird", "The Paper Reeds by the Brooks" by Thompson and the spiritual "Great Day."

Admission to the concert will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. MSC students will be admitted with identification cards.

Funds OK'd for Leadership Confab

Missouri Southern's Student Senate April 13 gave its approval to a resolution providing for a leadership seminar to be held sometime this summer at an Ozarks resort. The cost may range as high as $1,000 to send student leaders and advisors to the weekend seminar.

The Senate handed out $200 for two interest groups to send delegations to spring conventions. Appropriations of $100 each went to SNEA and the Circle K Club. Circle K's request was

Waverly Consort Coming

The Waverly Consort, an ensemble of six musicians specializing in the performance of early vocal and instrumental music, will perform at 1:00 p.m. on April 27 at Missouri Southern College.

In addition to their performance, members of the Consort will conduct a workshop at 10:00 in which they will demonstrate the remarkable variety of instruments on which they perform and will discuss early music and its performance practices. The public is invited to attend.

The ensemble draws on a repertory of over five centuries of music from the courts and (continued on page 4)

Koch, Searcy, Pickett Team-up for Elections

Three M.S.C. students today announced their intentions of running for office in the upcoming spring elections. Dan Koch (center) is seeking the student body presidency, which is currently held by Gary Armstrong. Running with Koch for the office of vice-president will be Steve Searcy (right). Jane Pickett has joined forces with Searcy and Koch in hopes of becoming next year's student body secretary.

The campus primary has been set for April 29, with the actual election on May 3. At press time no other students had formally announced their candidacy.

Dan Koch, a junior and political science major, has been active in the student senate this past year where he serves as head of the Judiciary Committee. He was instrumental in acquiring intercollegiate recognition for CIRUNA, Southern's political science and history club, at the recent Midwest Model United Nations.

Steve Searcy, another political science major and also a junior, has been active in the Missouri Intercollegiate State Legislature as Secretary of Urban Affairs. Along with his interests in politics, he has been active in Southern's drama department and will play the title role in the upcoming production of Tartuffe.

Jane Pickett has been an active member of this year's senate. She has been the chairman of the Self-Study Committee and hopes to implement committee suggestions for smoother senate operations. Jane has also been a long-time member of the Chart staff.

Koch announced that the three students will present a detailed platform to the student body in the near future.

Regents Leave Final Say To MSC Students

By LARRY WHITE
Editor

A "change of times" has resulted in the Board of Regents-Trustees voting to discontinue The Crossroads, the annual yearbook of college events published since 1938.

The board agreed, after lengthy discussion at its March meeting, to discontinue The Crossroads as a part of the program at MSC for at least a year and maybe two. As President Dr. Leon Billingsly put it: "... until funds become available." This decision came amid concern by the board over cuts in state funds and an over-all belt-tightening by the administration in looking ahead to next year.

But the board is leaving the final decision on the life of The Crossroads up to the students. Board members pointed out that it was with "regret" the yearbook was being dropped, and that if enough interest was shown in the publication, it would be revived. Dr. Billingsly presented the board figures which pointed to the final decision. According to the president, The Crossroads was not "paying its way" and was being subsidized in the amount of $3,000 to $4,000 per year. Dr. Billingsly reported that from an enrollment this year of 3,200 students, only 600 have purchased the 1970-72 Crossroads.

Crossroads Editor Audrey Gray attended the meeting and told the board there just was not enough interest shown in The Crossroads, adding there was no monetary incentive. The only form of recognition is a scholarship for the editor, it was indicated by Miss Gray. She also said the past two or three issues "were not good" and students had become disenchanted with the publication to the point they refused to order one. Work on the yearbook begins with the fall term and the last copy and pictures have to be sent to the publisher in early spring. The Crossroads is not an official effort of the journalism department and those who contribute their time do so mostly out of (continued on page 4)

The last deadline

It has been evident for sometime The Crossroads was in dire trouble. The first inkling of troubled waters for the publication came about two years ago when the issues were not delivered in time for students to have them in their hands before school was dismissed for the term.

And there's been a continuing disinterest in students to give their time to compile the longtime college publication. The Board of Regents, in agreeing to discontinue subsidizing The Crossroads, hit the nail on the head when they concluded that times have changed on the American college campus.

Southern is no exception.

The staff of The Crossroads has dwindled to the point that it's virtually impossible to get all the work done. A publication such as the yearbook must have bodies, several of them — people who possess diverse talents. Three or four hard-working persons can not, without pushing themselves almost night and day, meet those deadlines that seem to crop up almost immediately after the previous one has been met. The quality is hurt.

In this respect, Editor Audrey Gray and her devoted, but few in number staffers deserve all the praise and recognition, along with sympathy, for the efforts they have made to publish the 1970-71 Crossroads. The odds have been seemingly insurmountable.

But it appears theirs will be the last effort of its kind on this campus because, to borrow a phrase, "the times, they are a-changin'."

Happenings...

Fred E. Cooperrider, senior mathematics major at Missouri Southern College, has accepted an assistantship in the Graduate School of the University of Missouri at Rolla. The appointment carries a $3,500 stipend and will require some teaching.

He is the son of Ray Cooperrider of route 1, Carthage, and is a graduate of Carthage High school. He will graduate from MSC in June and will enter the graduate school at Rolla in September.

Marion E. Sloan, instructor of physics at Missouri Southern College, is one of thirty college instructors who have been selected to attend the National Science Foundation Institute this summer at the University of Missouri at Columbia.

Scheduled to be held between June 14 and August 6, the Institute will focus on "Fluid Dynamics and Heat Transfer." Participants will attend eight hours each week day, four of which will be devoted to lecture and four of which will be spent in laboratory work. Eight hours of graduate credit will be awarded to each participant.

Mr. Sloan and his wife and son reside in Joplin.

The United States Department of Health, Education and Welfare has notified Missouri Southern College officials of a grant of $6087 for an exploratory research project to determine tendencies of college faculty, student teachers and cooperative teachers toward traditionalism or progressivism in their attitudes toward education. $5340 is granted by HEW and $747 is contributed by MSC.

The proposed four phased study was initiated by Dr. Robert C. Wiley, Associate Professor of Education in the MSC Division of Education and Psychology, and was submitted earlier this month. The first phase is the implementation of a pilot study and the establishment of a control group by which to compare changes in the experimental group. Other steps in the study will be the measurement of student teachers and cooperating teachers using the Kerlinger Educational Scale Seven.

The period of the grant is from April 1, 1971 through March 31, 1972.

Most students enter college with a specific major field in mind. These students should see the Division Chairman of the division in which they plan to major at the end of their freshman year for assignment of a permanent adviser, according to George Volumert, Registrar.

If a student is still "undecided" as to his major at the end of his freshman year, it is important that he see a college counselor for help in determining a major field of concentration. This is most important, since failure to declare a major may result in his taking courses which may not be acceptable toward his major area.

Missouri Southern College has a well-staffed Guidance Department. Mr. Eugene Mouser and Mr. Larry Karst encourage students to discuss their future plans with them. The Guidance Department is located in Hearnes Hall, 3rd floor. Students are urged to see these counselors before they pre-register for the summer and-or fall terms.

All current students will pre-register for both the summer and fall terms on May 3 through May 14. Students who have "undecided" majors should follow this procedure:

1. Students with a strong interest in a certain field should meet with the Division Chairman of the area in which they are interested for assignment of a permanent adviser.

2. Students who are still undecided as to their major field of interest should make an appointment with a counselor in the Guidance Department. The "undecided" student will receive assistance in determining what area to major in and whom to see for the assignment of an adviser.

NOTE: The procedure in step 2 is most important for those students who feel their interest in a particular area or field is not yet well-established.

3. All students (day or night) who do not have a permanent adviser must see the Division Chairman of the area of their interest for assignment of an adviser.

The following Division Chairmen are the only persons authorized to assign advisers:

1. Students interested in majoring in the Arts & Sciences — English, Speech & Drama, Art, Music, History, Sociology, Political Science, Mathematics, Biology, Chemistry, should see — DR. HAROLD COOPER, Hearnes Hall.

2. Students interested in majoring in any of the areas of Business should see — DR. KEITH LARIMORE, Old Mansion Building.

3. Students interested in majoring in Health & Physical Education, Psychology, Education, should see — DR. CHARLES NIESS, Science and Math Building.

4. Students interested in majoring in the Technology area, Nursing, Data Processing, Law Enforcement, should see — DEAN JAMES MAUPIN, Technology Building.

Students who wish to change their major should see the Registrar and fill in a "Change of Major" form for adviser reassignment.

1. Make an appointment with your adviser as soon as possible.

2. Between May 3 and May 14 (the earlier the better), pick up a "Student Preference Class Selection Card" (for each term), a class schedule, and two (2) Preliminary Enrollment Forms (for each term), in the Registrar's Office, Hearnes Hall, Room 100. Class Preference cards for the Summer session will be pink; for the Fall semester, white.

3. Keep your appointment with your adviser and complete your schedule for the Summer and-or Fall terms, being very certain that the courses you list are the exact courses you need and want.

4. Leave your completed "Student Preference Class Selection" card(s) with your adviser.

5. Fill in two preliminary enrollment forms (for each term if you plan to attend both summer and fall) — keep one (or two) for yourself; leave one (or two) with your adviser.

Applications Being Accepted For Accounting Internship

Applications are currently being accepted for an Internship in Public Accounting. The program has been instituted in order to provide accounting students with accounting experience and to introduce them to the field of public accounting. The internship consists of approximately a six-week period of employment as a junior accountant on the staff of a firm of Certified Public Accountants. The interns will report to the participating firm shortly after Christmas and will remain with the firm for approximately six weeks.

Students participating in the program must be seniors, screened and selected by a faculty committee composed of staff members who teach accounting. They must have completed or must be currently enrolled in the following courses or their equivalent at the time of participation in the program: Elementary Accounting, Cost Accounting, Intermediate Accounting, Tax Accounting, Auditing, and Internship in Public Accounting.

To be considered for the program, a student also must have: (1) A "B" average (3.0) in all accounting courses completed by the end of the spring term immediately preceding his enrollment in the internship program, (2) A "B" average (3.0) in all accounting courses taken at Missouri Southern College, (3) a 2.5 over-all grade-point average in all college course work.

Interns will be qualified to perform, under supervision, the normal functions of a junior accountant. They will be expected to perform the work assigned by the firm in accordance with the time schedule prevailing during the period of internship. The intern will receive three hours credit upon satisfactory completion of the program.

Co-ordinator of the internship program is James S. Worthington, who has a CPA certificate from Missouri and Kansas, member of Missouri

Society of Certified Public Accountants and American Institute of Certified Public Accounts. Interested students may pick up applications from Mr. Worthington, room 204 in the Business Administration Building, and turn them in by May 1, 1971. Students could expect to be assigned to Joplin, Springfield, and Kansas City with possible travel to other cities. Also some interns may be sent to special schools as far away as Chicago, Illinois.

Joplin Rock DJ Makes It With Head in 3 Lives

By MARTA POYNOR

Clarence Jerome Peabody II is alive and well at Missouri Southern. Joplin's popular disc jockey is really sophomore Steve Carter of Carthage, who leads three lives as a DJ at KODE, a speech-education major at MSC and a sometimes scuba diver.

Going to school 16 hours and working at KODE 40 hours a week gives Steve little leisure time, but he says he doesn't mind the limited time because his job is his "first love". According to Steve, the work as a DJ grows on a person until he wants it constantly. And Steve does. "There's always room for improvement and you're never through practicing in this business" is Steve's attitude.

Steve got into this field of work with a little ambition, being alert to what's going on today and being able to get along easily with people.

His first job was as a cameraman for cablevision at KDMO at Carthage but after a few months he changed his work and became a DJ at WMBH. Still not satisfied and with even greater ambition, Steve moved on to KODE where he's been almost a year. He hopes someday to be able to be heard on WHB radio in Kansas City or WLS out of Chicago.

When Steve started his work as a DJ at KODE, he was known as the Nameless Wonder. A Nameless DJ contest was launched and of the 500 entries, Clarence Jerome Peabody II was selected by Steve, the KODE sales manager and station manager. The view of the three was that the name may not be easily remembered, but people can remember that it is an odd name.

Steve's work at KODE involves production, such as commercials, comprising of the Top 40 Survey each week and he also selects all music used on the radio at night. Steve becomes a different person and is heard as "Clarence Peabody" Tuesday through Thursday and Saturday and Sunday from 7 p.m. to midnight. Besides his work at KODE, Steve is the Jasper County news correspondent for WHB. Some of Steve's stories WHB has broadcasted included the Joplin teachers' strike last year and the Tri-State truck explosion on Interstate-44 in January.

2—KODE general manager Jay Corrington goes over programming with C.J.

As a sometimes scuba diver, Steve spends most of his week-ends in the water. He makes most of his dives at the Circle in Oronogo and Beaver Lake, and he made his deepest dive last week-end at the Circle, going 150 feet into the deep. Steve and his fellow-diver, Dave Dobcan, are planning an under-water documentary on "Monte Ne", a one-time luxury resort in Arkansas, now buried in the bottom of Beaver Lake.

Whether in class, on the air or under water, Steve Carter seems to enjoy the three lives he leads.

Research Project Summary Conducted by Prof. Guiliams

A complete summary of a research project conducted by Dr. Clark I. Guiliams, Associate Professor of Education and Psychology at Missouri Southern College, has been accepted by the Mental Health Research Institute for publication in the JOURNAL OF BIOLOGICAL PSYCHOLOGY.

The study, titled "Accelerated Conditioning of Contracted Immobilized Planarians," was initiated last July and completed in December. The significance of the study was the finding that through the use of light and shock and experimentation with memory transfer the training period of worms can be reduced from 12 to three days. The worm specimens used in the experiments were obtained from the MSC spring fed ecology marsh.

Assisting Dr. Guiliams in the study were the following people: Craig Harris, a 1970 MSC graduate with a Bachelor of Arts Degree, served as student assistant; MSC Instructor of Journalism Eugene Murray provided the photos for the summary; Dan Kuhn, a draftsman for the city of Joplin and a 1971 candidate for a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology at MSC, drafted the figures; Editorial Assistant Colleen Edwards, a 1970 graduate from MSC with a Bachelor of Arts degree in psychology, prepared the manuscript.

The article is expected to get world-wide distribution when it is published this summer in the international journal.

Three Attend International Conference

Three M.S.C. students attended the International Student Conference held at Weidernere Resort on the Lake of the Ozarks on April 9th through the 11th. The three students were Wilson Ogumbede from Nigeria, Yoshigide Sakuragi from Japan, and Tim Hughes.

Thirty-one nations were represented at the conference sponsored by the Southern Baptist Missionaries. The largest delegation was comprised of students from the Republic of China attending schools in Missouri.

The main speaker was Professor Ben Freidsen, instructor of bio-physics and radiation at the University of Kansas.

CAMPUSES ARE QUIETER

DALLAS (AP) — Dr. Duncan Wimpres, president of San Antonio's Trinity University, says that American college campuses are quieter this year because students have seen that violence is both frightening and non-productive.

"Blowing up buildings won't enhance their education," says Dr. Wimpres. "Students now realize this."

Delta Phi Delta Pins New Pledges, Installs Officers

Delta Phi Delta Sorority has announced its pledges for this spring. They are Veler Arner, Mary Beckwith, Kaye Cloud, Mosey Hoffmeister, Cindy Larson, Janice Lowry, Patty McKenna and Sandy Powell. The new pledges were pinned at a Mother-Daughter ceremony.

The sorority also joined the Beta Lambda Fraternity for St. Patrick's Day party in March.

New officers also have been elected by Delta Phi Delta. The new president is Connie Duke.

Other officers are Kristen Bailey, vice president; Frances Rose, corresponding secretary; Connie Travis, recording secretary; Toni Taylor, treasurer; Donna Bement, historian; Charlotte Duke, parliamentarian; Debbie Bottero and Penny Patterson, pledge mistresses; Kathy Martin, reporter and Jo Spille, chaplain. Officers were installed Wednesday, April 21.

In future events, the sorority will participate in the cancer crusade at the end of April and assist in the bloodmobile drive May 6.

churches of the Middle Ages, Renaissance and Baroque. All members of the consort have versatile backgrounds that include not only mastery of their unusual instruments, but extensive study of the history of these periods and their performance practices.

Members of the Waverly Consort are the following: Joan Summers (soprano), Constantine Cassolas (tenor), Kay Jaffee (recorder, rauschpfeife, portable organ), Sally Logemann (Baroque oboe, shawm, krummhorn, kortholt), guest artist Judith Davidoff (viola de gamba) and Michael Jaffee (lute, theorbo, cornetto).

The Waverly Consort made its New York debut in 1966.

The instrumentalists of the Waverly Consort perform regularly in the New York area and throughout the Northeastern states (under the auspices of Young Audiences, Inc.) In recent years they have participated in hundreds of concerts for young people of all ages and have invariably delighted students and teachers alike with their exciting and informative presentations of early music.

The Waverly Consort's impressive collection of early instruments, many with unusual shapes, make their performance a visual as well as a musical delight. Among their instruments are the rauschpfeife, portable organ, Baroque oboe, sackbut, lute theorbo, and recorders.

interest and on experience gained through work on high school annuals.

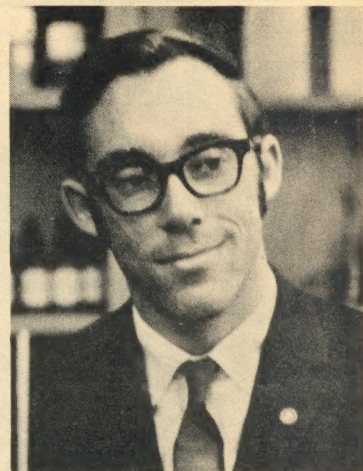

But foremost the board's consensus was that times have changed and students of today place more value on schoolwork combined with part or fulltime jobs than recognition and the "honor" of participating in extracurricular activities such as school publications.

In tightening the budget belt, the board decided not to offer a course in aviation next fall.

The board was told that the business department is conducting a cost analysis of classes already offered and the needs of the college curriculum. Operating costs have been trimmed 15 per cent and 40 per cent in equipment purchasing.

Board Treasurer Mills Anderson of Carthage said there is a need for a change of emphasis on studies at MSC. He said emphasis is needed in studies of the environment. At present the only course offered here in the field is environmental biology. Anderson said the emphasis last year was in computer training. "MSC needs to be a step ahead," Anderson said, adding "I believe it's a step behind now."

The board, at the March session, also re-elected the slate of officers. President is Fred Hughes; vice president, Gene Taylor, secretary, Norval Matthews and treasurer, Anderson.

Chemistry Men Receive Honor

Two Missouri Southern College chemistry majors were the current recipients of awards presented in their field. Paul Daugherty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Daugherty Sr., received the Eula Ratekin Scholarship Award which is presented to an outstanding Junior Chemistry major.

The scholarship is for $150 and is sponsored by Eagle Picher Chemical & Metals Division, W. R. Grace Co., Farmers Chemical Co., and the Gulf Oil Company. Paul is a Parkwood High School graduate and will be eligible for this award for three years.

The 1970-71 Freshman Chemistry Achievement Award was presented to Gary Frank Potter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Potter of Joplin. Gary was awarded the 52nd Edition of the Handbook of Chemistry & Physics made possible by the Chemical Rubber Company.

This reference book certificate is part of a unique honors program that is national in scope. Only freshmen students are eligible for the award and the faculty of Missouri Southern selects the student who has demonstrated the greatest achievement.

Along with this book Gary will receive an Award Scroll. He is a graduate of Seneca High School.

The presentation of these awards to the two students was held at a meeting of the American Chemical Society, Southeast Kansas Section on Monday night, April 12.
